CfBT Education Trust is delighted to work again with FOBISIA to invite delegates from interested schools in Asia to attend this Invitational Training day prior to this year’s annual FOBISIA Heads’ conference in Bangkok. As one of the world’s leading UK based not-for-profit education companies CfBT provides a range of services to education in the UK and internationally.

CfBT has a strong commitment to school improvement and particular expertise in the evaluation of school quality with considerable experience in the fields of school inspection and accreditation.

CfBT’s Training Day is intended for all leaders interested in supporting school improvement and seeking to make connections with the process of Quality Assurance

The programme will include a series of sessions that inform and develop a better understanding of quality assurance and its value. There will be a focus on enabling all staff to develop their ability to assess their school and work more effectively with their colleagues during the process.

Consideration will be given to the skills needed to evaluate schools with reference to several recognised frameworks including the Ofsted monitored Inspection of British Schools Overseas (BSO) and CfBT’s own accreditation system with the International School’s Quality Mark (ISQM)

Summary and focus of the Training Day

- Understanding and recognising what is meant by school improvement
- Identifying how the quality assurance process can support the process of school improvement
- Recognising how good practice and international standards can be identified in this process
- Consider frameworks such as BSO Inspection requirements as delivered by CfBT
- Knowing your own school and how to make the most of the accreditation process.

Materials will be provided by CfBT for attendees to consider, discuss and share ideas in the light of their own experiences. Most sessions will be interactive with contributions encouraged, but no previous inspection or accreditation experience is required.

CfBT Education Trust is pleased to extend a warm welcome to participants for this full day event. It is anticipated that this training day will have a wide relevance to all those with an interest in understanding how to engage effectively with the process of school improvement
